Senior competitors rodeo under two flags

AGE IS NO BARRIER for 65+ calf roper Harvey Helderman and his Ribbon Roping partner, 60+ Ladies Barrel Racing competitor Effie Simpson, shown in hot pursuit of Sunday's second prize.

While Alberta's beef supporters were heading for Coutts to lobby for the reopening of the US border, senior cowboys and cowgirls from many of the 50 states were heading for Elk Point to compete with their Canadian counterparts in this area's first -ever rodeo exclusively for participants aged 40+.

The Stars and Stripes flew proudly alongside the maple leaf and the grand entry featured both The Star Spangled Banner and O Canada as Saturday's and Sunday's international performances got underway.

The Elk Point stop is part of a lengthy circuit featuring both rough stock and timed events. Rough stock events featured 40+ and 50+ riders, while in the timed events, a large 60+ division showed that older competitors are still cowboy-ing up - big time. Over two hundred competitors were listed on Sunday's program, around half of them in the 8 a.m. slack timed events, with a similar number having taken part in Saturday's show.

Senior rodeo works on a points basis, with points awarded for first to sixth place and adding up to determine who will compete in the Canadian Senior Finals in Medicine Hat and the National Senior Finals in Reno, Nevada. Cash prizes go to the top four placings in each event.

One distinct difference from traditional rodeo comes in the rough stock side, where eight seconds are reduced to seven and bronc riders don't have to mark out their mounts. Among Sunday's Bareback competitors was Dale Pollock of Pierceland, SK, a longtime Lakeland Rodeo Association favorite, who marked a 68, the top mark going to Owen Voight of Helena, Montana with a 73. Fifty-plus David From, of Craig, Colorado won the Saddle Bronc with an 82 point ride. Another Colorado cowboy, Jim Holt, scored a 67 to win Sunday's Bull Riding.

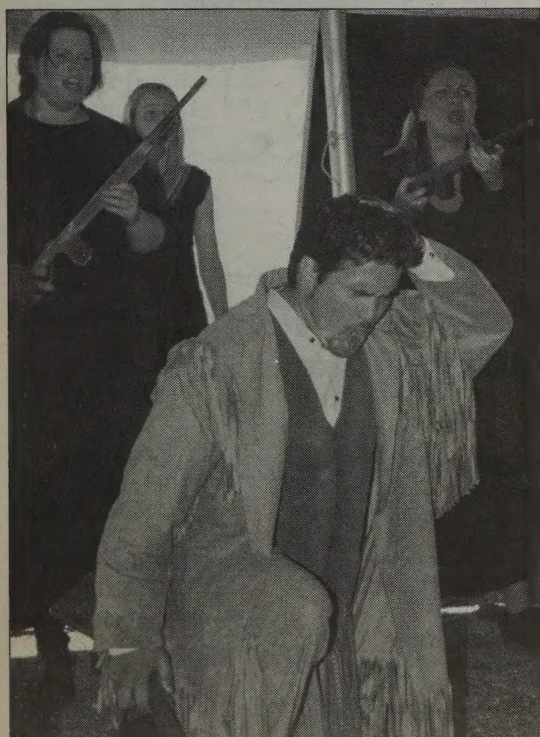

Timed events were divided into 40+, 50+ and 60+ divisions. In the Ladies Barrel Racing, Glenda Schatz was Sunday's 40+ winner, with Carol Stevenson taking the 50+ honors and Willma Hyearger the 60+ champ.

Many of these ladies also took part in the Ribbon Roping, a unique event where one member of a team ropes the calf and leaps off their horse to hold it while the second member runs out, grabs a ribbon tied to the calf's tail and runs back through the timer. The Arkansas/Okotoks, AB duo of Larry Manley and Kathy Grant got the job done in 12.5 seconds to

Musical history lesson highlights Potta Trail Days

BLOODIED BUT DETERMINED - Gabriel Dumont and the Métis vow never to give up their quest.

The second annual Potta Trail Days at Frog Lake's beautiful Riel Beach Campground featured a wide variety of activities celebrating Métis tradition, from bannock making to Red River cart rides, from jigging to lively fiddle tunes to tours of the Frog Lake historic site. The highlight of the weekend, however, was a marvelous dramatic presentation on Saturday evening, as St. Albert's Musicalmania! theatre group brought the campground's namesake, Louis Riel, back to life.

"Louis Riel - The Musical" harked back to 1869, when Riel left the seminary in Montreal, unsure what to do with his life, saying "there are so many questions on my mind." He returned to his Red River home, where he was soon embroiled in a quest to keep Métis traditions and lifestyle alive. "Our people don't want to turn their backs on their past... they will stay and fight." He asked the blessing of the church on his mission as "the chosen one" and declared there would be no turning back. "We must stand together as one, elect our own government and insist on equality for all people."

Riel's people assured him they would stand behind him all the way, but a group of English Canadian loyalists attacked Fort Garry, where Riel held firm, hoping that "with our own provisional government in place, Sir John A. Macdonald will be made aware of our position." One of the loyalists, Thomas Scott, captured in the fight and was later condemned as a traitor and shot. Scott returned from the grave to haunt and taunt Riel, saying "I will be Riel's biggest cross to bear... and will prove he is a villain."

The joy over the Métis victory is short-lived for Riel, who decides to flee south and make a new beginning. "I will rethink my calling - am I a hero or a villain?" In exile, he marries a young Métis woman, starts a family and becomes a teacher, but misses the political life. In 1884, when longtime friend Gabriel Dumont tracks him down in Montana to beg his support in the Saskatchewan rebellion, Riel says "Yes, I'll fight again" to stop the North West Rebellion. Bullets fly and a distraught Riel sees his people injured and killed. Although injured, Dumont won't leave Riel's side and continues to fight until Riel is captured by the military.

Found guilty of treason, Riel is still unrepentant Dumont declares "We will never forget this day, this man" as Riel's grieving wife screams "what about the children?" and the tearful priest who gives him last rites before his hanging adds, "he fought for freedom and rights for all. Now we have a voice, we just won't be pushed around."

Riel, an uncanny lookalike of his portrayal in the history books, is seen as a man with a firm belief that the rights of the Métis people are paramount. Although continually haunted by doubts and by the memory of Thomas Scott, he goes to the gallows still sure he has fought the good fight.

This moving story of the two foremost heroes of Métis history, set to music by a very talented pianist-composer, brought the audience to their feet in a heartfelt standing ovation as the 14-member cast took their bows.

Minister of Transportation Ed Stelmach tours the area

MLA Ray Danyluk escorted Minister of Transportation Ed Stelmach on a tour of the Lac La Biche - St. Moosehills Road on

Paul constituency last Thursday, stopping to take a first-hand look at the soon-to-be-paved Moosehills Road on their way to a meeting with Elk Point Town Council. "We've put on a lot of miles today," Stelmach said.

Town Council was eager to discuss a number of concerns with the Minister, including resource revenue sharing.

Stelmach said his department "looked at various municipalities" to receive the 5¢ per liter tax revenue, but noted it "gives Edmonton and Calgary less than $100 per capita, and only works there because of the sheer volume." He noted that the two cities don't get water and sewer grants, while smaller municipalities do, and "the small municipalities wouldn't be any further ahead on the 5¢." The government collects 9¢ per litre, amounting to $650 million, and "we have by far the lowest fuel taxes of any province - BC just increased theirs."

Regarding revenue sharing, Stelmach said "we share all the revenue with the people" but "health and education chew up most of the dollars. There's very little going to the aging infrastructure. We have to move on it now."

Utility costs also came under fire, with Stelmach noting Alberta is "the only province who can afford to give a rebate on gas - the other provinces are deep in debt."

Early deadline

Due to next Monday's Heritage Day holiday, deadline for news and advertising for our August 5 issue will be 4 p.m. Wednesday, July 30.

MINISTER OF TRANSPORTATION Ed Stelmach and MLA Ray Danyluk dodged oilfield traffic as they toured Moosehills Road last Thursday afternoon.

FACING THE GALLOWS AND STILL UNREPENTANT - Louis Riel earned the grudging respect of the officer sent to escort him to his execution as he maintained his strong belief that his actions to bring equality and freedom to the Métis people were justified. The young Métis priest administered last rites.

to win Sunday's 40+, Bill Reeder and Twylla Bruhn took the 50+ with a 9.0 run and Bob Stoddard and Ann Bowers won the 60+ division.

Ribbon Roping is another unique event, especially for competitors 65+, where the clock stops when the calf is securely roped. Harvey Helderman won Sunday's honors in the slack with a right-out-of-the-box 3.1 second catch.

Chuck Bert won the 40+ Calf roping by 1/10 second, wrapping up his calf in 10.9, while 50+ winner Doug Shipton took just 9.6 seconds and agile 60+ Bob Shedeed tied up a win in 12.7.

Steer Wrestling featured 40+ and 50+ competitors, with 40+ Jeff Bowers of Ardmore downing his steer in 4.3 seconds and 50+ Chuck Melin not far behind at 5.7.

Team Ropers seem to just get faster as the years go by. Arnold Fletcher and Gerald Seovich of Wainwright topped Sunday's 40+ with an 8.8 second run, the 50+ division going to Roger Fletcher and John Hougham with 8 seconds flat and Bob Stoddard and Arlyn Simms taking the 60+ with a speedy 6.1.

The Elk Point Senior Pro Rodeo was sponsored by a long list of local businesses and although competitors outnumbered spectators, was successful in bringing a huge number of people to town, with no sign of the rain which plagued many past rodeos at the Elk Point fairgrounds.

Further assistance needed to solve November 2000 horse shootings

Elk Point RCMP are requesting further assistance regarding the horse shootings which occurred about November 11, 2000, about six miles north-east of Elk Point. Unknown person(s) apparently drove up onto Moose Hills and for unknown reasons, shot at five horses, maiming them. As a result of the injuries sustained, four of these horses had to be put down. The act could be none other than deliberate, given the location of the injuries on the horses.

A Horse Reward Fund is still being offered for any information leading to the full participation of any witness(es) and the successful conviction of the culprit(s). The reward of $13,500 includes pledges from concerned individuals, CFCW Radio and the Canadian Humane Society.

To be eligible for the rewards, a person must contact the Elk Point RCMP at 780-724-3964, regarding file #2000-1572, provide their name, address and a written statement if required, be willing to attend court if required, and provide information which leads to a successful conviction.

This reward fund is not associated with Crime Stoppers and persons supplying information to Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS (8477) will not be eligible for the "Horse Reward Fund", but will still qualify for the Crime Stoppers reward.

Donations to the Horse Reward Fund are still being accepted at Alberta Equestrian Federation, Suite 403, 8989 MacLeod Trail

South, Calgary, AB, T2H OM2. Make cheques payable to Alberta Equestrian Federation and mark cheque 'for Horse Reward Fund'.

Anyone with further information about the horse shootings is asked to call the Elk Point RCMP Detachment at 724-3964 or 724-3829.

■ Our Past

A tribute to the Wolfe families - early pioneers of our district

By Steve Andrishak
Local Historian

W. F. (Billy) Wolfe arrived in our district in 1910.

The following year (1911), his brother Tom, his wife Marian, and a sister, Miss M. K. Wolfe, all left their Irish homes in Skibbereen and boarded a passenger liner, leaving Liverpool, England aboard "The Empress of Ireland" on February 24, 1911 and arriving at Saint John, New Brunswick about March 1. Later they traveled by train to Vermilion and finally came to their homestead located five miles southeast of Elk Point (Where George and Loretta Pinder now live). He had a comfortable home built overlooking the North Saskatchewan River, which gave the family a fabulous view of the winding river which flowed hundreds of feet below.

In 1915 Thomas Wolfe joined the Canadian Army and spent a few years overseas during World War I. Upon his return, he continued farming. Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe raised a family of four children: Marjorie, John, Gwen and Dorothy. They all attended school in Elk Point, riding their bicycles in the summer and driving a horse-drawn cutter in the winter. I went to school with them and never recall them missing a day of school no matter how cold it got.

The Wolfe families were highly respected by their neighbors during the pioneer years and for many years after while living in the Elk Point district.

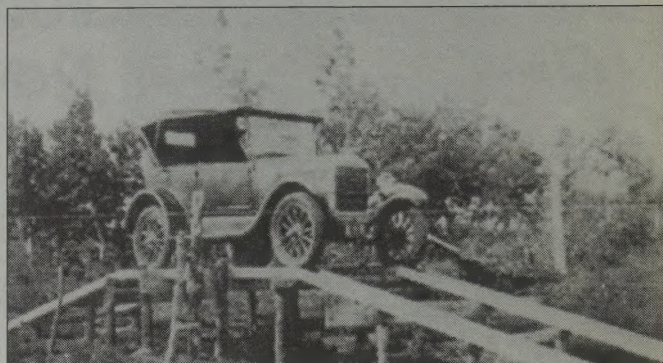

Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe had the misfortune of losing their only son (John) during World War II. The three girls all married and left the district in the 1950s.

They were a well-respected, churchgoing family and were liked by all the residents of our district.

I remember Tom very well. I spent about three weeks helping the Wolfes take off their crop in the early 1950s. Mrs. Wolfe was a very good cook and I still recall the many delicious meals I had in their home during that time. Tom and I spent a lot of time looking for fur trade artifacts which we found at Fort George and Buckingham House as well as making a few trips to Eagle Cliff (near his home) and finding a wide assortment of prehistoric fossils, all of which are on display at the museum in Elk Point.

Billy, Tom's brother, was the secretary of Elk Point's municipal hospital which was built in 1927 in the west end of town.

He was a very inventive

UP AND OVER WE GO - Billy Wolfe's ramp eliminated the tedious task of opening and closing his gate.

type of person who as a hobby repaired and built early radios. He lived on the farm immediately to the east of the Arnott residence (now owned by the Aarbos). Billy never liked opening gates so one day he built a wooden ramp over his gate and instead of opening his gate, he drove over it.

In later years, Tom and his wife left our district for Duncan, B.C. to live near their daughter's home.

There are only two remaining descendants of the Wolfe family living, Marjorie, and Gwen who lives near Cremona, Alberta. The remaining person related to the Wolfe family who still lives in our district is Pat Johnson. His mother was Tom's sister, who during the early years, married Tom Johnson of Lindbergh.

Pat was a school bus operator for many years in our district as well as being a scoutmaster for as long as I can remember/ Pat is an enthusiastic canoeist.

The Wolfe families contributed a lot to our district during the many years they lived here.

Have a safe and happy
Heritage Day

Enjoy Alberta events all August

Yes, can you believe it? July is almost over and this coming weekend is the August long weekend. From the magazine, "Alberta Connections - Spring/Summer 2003" I found listed the following events you could choose to attend this coming long weekend. August 1-3 there is a Blueberry Bluegrass Festival held at the Exhibition Park in Stony Plain. August 1-3 there is a Jasper Heritage Folk Festival at the Centennial Park in Jasper. (Say, I heard the motel rates are very reasonable this summer.) For those of you who want to travel to southern Alberta, they are recognizing the 100 Years Ago - The Frank Slide Centennial at the Frank Slide Interpretive Centre in Crowsnest Pass. In Edmonton from August 1-4 there is a Fête Franco-Albertaine taking place. Closer to home, in Vermilion, from August 1-4 the Western Canadian Midget B Softball Championships will be held. Then there is the big event in Edmonton from August 2-4 which is the Edmonton Heritage Festival held at the William Hawrelak Park. Last but not least, for events held in our area is the Historic Garden Tours held at Ukrainian Cultural Heritage Village on August 3.

Then after you have chosen one of the above events to attend and you still want to attend more events before the end of August, I will list a few upcoming August events for you to consider. August 7-9 the Edmonton Folk Music Festival will be held at Gallagher Park in Edmonton. August 9 and 10 is our very own Elk Point Fair, August 15-17 is the 20th Annual Elk Point Oilmen's Golf Tournament, and August 14-17 are the Canadian Professional Chuckwagon Association finals in Lloydminster, although these are not listed in Alberta Connections. August 17 is Fort Day at Victoria Settlement in Smoky Lake. August 17 is also the day for the Old Time Penny Carnival at Rutherford House in Edmonton. The next important date is August 24. The Friends' Ukrainian Music Fest will be held at the Ukrainian Cultural Heritage Village on August 24, and of course, right close to home on August 24 at our very own Fort George and Buckingham House

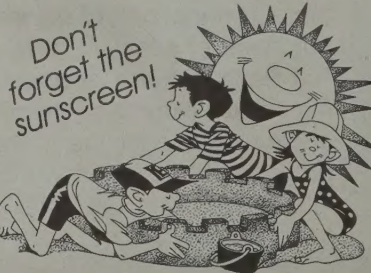

Interpretive Centre will be the Forts des Prairies Jamboree. That's also the day activities surrounding the Lakeland Rodeo Finals in St. Paul start off, with the Open Horse Show all day and the Heavy Horse Pull in the evening. The rodeo finals performances start Thursday, August 28 and wind up Sunday, August 31.

All of the above are great summer events. Hope you are able to attend one of more of them. Because it is a centennial recognition in the Crowsnest Pass of Frank Slide, let me share more information about the Frank Slide. "It was 4:10 a.m., April 29, 1903 when a massive rockslide thundered down from Turtle Mountain, peeling away 90 million tons of stone and debris from the peak and hurling it into the valley below, covering more than three square kilometers in less than 100 seconds.

The slide buried a portion of the Town of Frank and killed 70 people." Today, it is the site of the Frank Slide Interpretive Centre, a provincial historic site nestled in the Crowsnest pass on Highway 3. This summer, the 100th anniversary of the slide will be recognized by a series of special events that began on April 29, 2003 with a commemorative graveside service, a reception at the Centre and the premiere of a new high definition show, "On the Edge of Destruction - The Frank Slide Story". On August 1-4, "Beneath the Faceless Mountain" brings more centennial activities including an outdoor concert with Connie Kaldor, science workshops, theatrical presentations, interpretive programs and interactive exhibits inside the Centre. Outside, guided tours will lead through the rubble of the slide or to the summit of Turtle Mountain. The centennial summer ends with the "Running of the Rocks" August 22-24. This adventure race will follow the same route as railway brakeman Sid Choquette, who raced across the broken rocks to flag down an approaching passenger train, the Spokane Flyer, saving more lives. The Frank Slide Interpretive Centre, open daily year round, brings life to the tragedy, the heroism and the emotion of this long-ago disaster.

By April Gusnowski and Sandy Bullock

Elk Point Public Library

Last Friday the library was more than thrilled to welcome Daryl Robb and his two assistants, Shantelle and Luke the Lobster. We had a great turnout and an audience that was eager to participate.

Daryl shared his musical talent with the crowd as he strummed his guitar and serenaded us all. But don't think he spent the entire hour singing alone - Luke and the audience joined in without hesitation. What started out as the song Down By the Docks led to the spelling song, the animal song, the getting dressed song, the hokey pokey and a song about getting ready to go play in the rain. I must admit, I was called upon to assist with the hokey pokey and given the title of "dance leader". To follow up my promotion from audience member to full blown hokey pokey dance guide, I received a hug from Luke the Lobster, and despite my pleas that I didn't like seafood, he landed a kiss right on my cheek.

Daryl also shared craft ideas to beat the rainy day blues. Kids learned how to take Pringle chip containers and paper towel tubes and turn them into noisy instruments. Of course he did not decorate them for us, he decided to let our imaginations wander for decorating ideas.

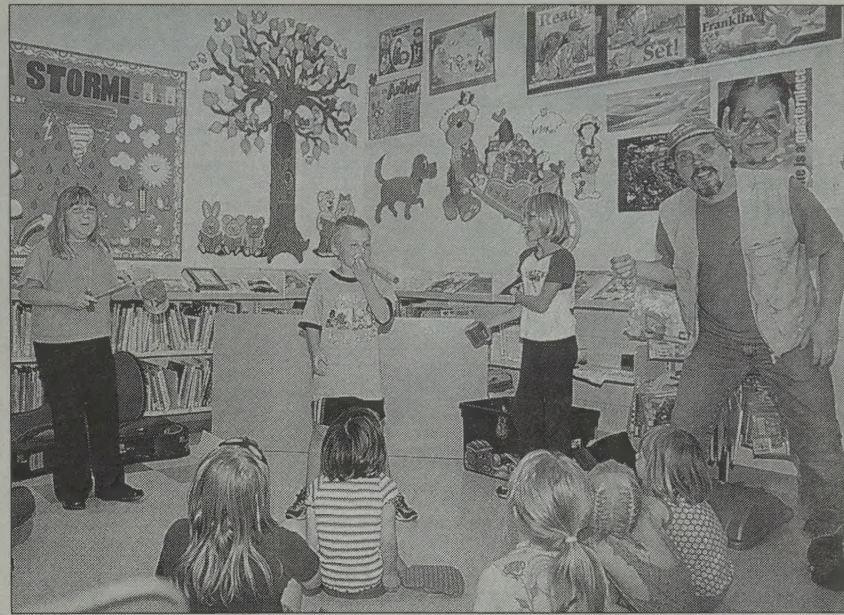

Did you know that your household kitchen utensils, pots and pans, and Tupperware could be instruments in a band? Our small band that demonstrated their kitchen talents is now a part of a huge kitchen band. This band has over 100 members from all the different libraries that Daryl Robb has visited!!!

Daryl Robb also told a story about Toot Toot the Tugboat. The kids joined in with noises and antics to spruce up the story. The story has a very important message that everyone is special and has talents all their own.

All the volunteers received prizes such as stickers and Down By the Docks CDs. Thanks to Daryl Robb, Shantelle, Luke the Lobster and Northern Lights Library System for making this storytime possible. It was definitely nothing but giggles here at the library.
